Of Chalk and Challenges...

September 5th is celebrated as 'Teachers Day' in India, in honor of Dr. Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan, the revered philosopher, educationist and statesman. India is known for the legendary respect and admiration shown to teachers from eons. However, the challenges faced by modern day teachers are at times intriguing and overwhelming.

One of the news headlines recently lamented, 'Schools turning into theatres of violence, teachers feel terrorized'. During an interaction with teachers and students at a school in Bengaluru, one of the teachers said, "I am afraid to correct some children because they might even harm us after school hours." Another voiced his concern saying, when students underperform, fingers are pointed at the school authorities, while imposing of disciplinary measures at schools are not looked upon kindly.

Dr. Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan's educational perspective indicates that moral values should be imparted through real life and living examples. The preventive system of education of Don Bosco rests on the three pillars, namely, reason, religion and loving kindness. Let us as we reach out to children and youth in difficult situations, strive to be educators who accompany the young with an exemplary life, un-failing kindness, unconditional love and commitment.
